Online Resource Guide

ADR Resources

This site offers practice tools, essays, and answers to frequently asked questions on a variety of topics related to alternative dispute resolution and mediation. Most content is written by the site manager, an ADR practitioner.

ADRWorld.com

A subscription service, this site provides access and updates to cases, legislation, and regulations in the federal government and 50 states. Its full-text database of laws, rules, policy documents, and news archives is searchable.

Alliance for Education in Dispute Resolution

A nationwide network of universities and professional organizations providing training and research on employment-based dispute resolution.

Alternative Dispute Resolution: A Resource Guide

Hosted by the United States Office of Personnel Management, this site provides links to ADR-related practices in 30+ federal agencies. The site also links to training materials, articles, reports, and the text of the ADR Act of 1996.

American Arbitration Association

AAA provides administrative services in the U.S. and abroad, including assisting in the appointment of mediators and arbitrators, setting hearings, and providing users with information on dispute resolution options, including settlement through mediation. The organization also offers help with the design and development of alternative dispute resolution (ADR) systems for corporations, unions, government agencies, law firms, and the courts as well as education, training, and publications. In addition to information about the services they provide, the AAA website contains industry-specific guides to arbitration, forms, and industry and state specific rules and procedures.

American Bar Association Section of Dispute Resolution

This special interest section of the ABA offers educational programs, technical assistance, and publications. The website includes a comprehensive Law School section, including information about mediation and writing competitions, internship opportunities, and directory of law school dispute resolution courses and programs.

American College of Civil Trial Mediators

This membership organization is committed to improving ethical and professional standards of mediation practice, fostering the growth of alternative dispute resolution systems, conducting advanced ADR educational programs and research, authoring publications, lecturing, and recognizing individuals, organizations, and institutions that make significant contributions to the field.

Association for Conflict Resolution

This professional organization is dedicated to enhancing the practice and public understanding of conflict resolution. The website offers many articles and other resources for practitioners and members of the public.

Campus ADR.org

The Campus Conflict Resolution Resources project provides conflict resolution resources and information specifically tailored to the higher education context.

Cornell University: Alternative Dispute Resolution

This site provides a brief introduction to ADR, full-text of federal and state arbitration statutes and regulations, as well as links to other ADR-related websites.

CPR: International Institute for Conflict Prevention & Resolution

This membership nonprofit organization strives to be an “all-purpose resource for lawyers seeking outstanding arbitrators and mediators, the latest ADR case decisions and practice guidelines, CLE courses, publications and conferences, [in the U.S.] and abroad.” Their website provides free access to model ADR clauses, rules, codes, and procedures for business agreements by industry and practice groups.

CRInfo - The Conflict Resolution Information Source

Free, online clearinghouse of conflict resolution-related Web pages, books, articles, and events.

The Federal Judicial Center

The FJC is the education and research agency for the federal courts. Includes publications and videos on ADR, some of which are freely available in full text.

Hieros Gamos - Alternative Dispute Resolution

Covers all current areas of ADR with links to national and international resources.

International Court of Arbitration

The arbitration body of the International Chamber of Commerce (ICC) for international commercial dispute resolution.

JAMS, The Resolution Experts

This organization’s website contains model rules, clauses, and procedures as well as articles, practice tips, and a glossary of ADR-related terms. JAMS Dispute Resolution Alert, a free e-newsletter, is available by signing up in the subscribe box on the home page.

Marquette University Law School Dispute Resolution Program

Lists faculty, courses and curriculum including the Restorative Justice Initiative.

Mediate.com

Offers articles on a variety of mediation-related topics and a mediator locator service.

National Academy of Arbitrators

This non-profit professional and honorary organization of arbitrators maintains a browse-able list of members as well as policy statements on topics related to arbitration.

National Arbitration Forum

ADR Law & Policy Update, a free weekly e-newsletter, is available by subscribing at the Weekly Subscription link.

The National Center for State Courts: ADR Resource Center

Includes resource guides, state funding of ADR programs, and other state program information.

National Institute for Advanced Conflict Resolution

Includes training resources, articles, and their top blog choices, linked below.

National Mediation Board

Independent Executive Branch agency and national mediator for the airline and railroad industries.

Permanent Court of Arbitration \(The Hague\)

Settles disputes involving States, private parties and intergovernmental organizations.

Program on Negotiation at Harvard Law School

PON is an applied research center committed to improving the theory and practice of negotiation and dispute resolution. Their website provides free access to a variety of resources.

World Intellectual Property Organization \(WIPO\) Arbitration and Mediation Center

A specialized agency of the United Nations. This Center offers ADR options for the resolution of international commercial disputes between private parties, particularly for technology, entertainment and other disputes involving intellectual property.

World Trade Organization \(WTO\)

Deals with the rules of trade between nations resulting from the 1986-94 Uruguay Round negotiations. Includes legal texts of all agreements, as well as statistics, and research reports. Also includes Understanding The WTO: Settling Disputes which describes in details the WTO dispute resolution process.

Blogs/Podcasts
