What constitutes an "unfair" act varies with the context of the business, the action being examined, and the facts of the individual case. The most familiar example of unfair competition is trademark infringement

This site, produced at Cornell University with student authorship, gives an overview of trademark and unfair competition law and links to federal and state statutes, regulations and cases.

Our collection is made up of Business Publications and longer Articles. The source of these publications can vary greatly: from Government Agencies, to online Business Zines, to Consulting companies making their expertise available for public consumption. Best of all, we won't index a publication unless it's available free of charge.

LEXIS AND WESTLAW

On Lexis, use the following path: Legal > Area of Law - By Topic > Trademarks and search under that topic for cases, statutes, legislative material, treatises, etc.

On Westlaw, use the following path: All Databases > Topical Materials by Area of Practice > Intellectual Property > and select particular entries for cases, treatises, etc. The Trademark selection would lead to 3rd party databases that list trademarks and trade names.
