TJSL 2014 Barristers Ball

This year’s Barristers Ball held on February 14 on the USS Midway was a major success with over 500 people attending.

“I want to thank all who attended this year’s Barristers Ball, said SBA President Milena Celentano. “It was truly rewarding to witness students, faculty, staff and alumni come together and celebrate one another’s accomplishments. The SBA would like to congratulate to the following award winners.”

- 1L Professor of the Year, Professor Julie Cromer
- 2L Professor of the Year, Professor Marybeth Herald
- 3L Professor of the Year, Professor Anders Kaye
- Adjunct Faculty Member of the Year, Adjunct Professor James Atkins ’82
- Staff Member of the Year, Faculty Assistant, Jody LaSalle
- Student Organization President of the Year, Business Law Society President, Jeremy Elias (3L)
- SBA Appreciation Award winners Art Director, Sherwin Laranga and Communications Coordinator, Denice Menard
- Lewis and Clark Award for Innovation and Dedication, Professor Luz Herrera
- Thomas Golden Alumnus of the Year Award, The Center for Sports Law & Policy Director, Jeremy Evans ’11
- Charles T. Bumer Civil Libertarian Award, Tiffany McCloud

“TJSL’s Barristers Ball is something that sets us apart from other Law School’s,” said SBA Public Relations Director Andrew Halbert. “It is so much more than a Law School Prom. It is an opportunity for the entire law school community to come together and celebrate our achievements in a fun and formal setting. It was a great night! We had a sellout crowd and it was great to see all the professors there. A lot of people put in a lot of hard work and it really showed.”

Attendees enjoyed live music and drinks before dinner and a deejay and dancing after the awards ceremony.

“This year's Barristers Ball was a really great event!” said SBA Social Events Director Michelle Ribaudo. “Everyone that came out helped to celebrate the accomplishments of TJSL’s faculty, staff, students and alumni.”

“The SBA owes the success of the night to all those who helped plan and contribute leading up to the event,” said SBA President Milena Celentano. “A special thank you to Public Relations Director Andrew Halbert, who did a wonderful job as the master of ceremonies. For those of you who were unable to attend, Andrew began the evening by imparting an important message that I would like to reiterate. Andrew stated:"

In preparing for tonight, I was reminded of a Wayne Gretsky quote that I cherry picked from Steve Jobs. I skate to where the puck is going not to where it has been. When change happens and hard decisions are made to go in a particular direction, the easy reaction is to get fixated on where we have been and all the things that went wrong. This creates a longing for how things once were. Rather than dwell on the past let’s look to the future. This mindset isn’t always the easiest. But it’s not as hard as we all might think.

“Please take a moment to watch the Barristers Ball video created by Art Director Sherwin Laranga,” requests SBA President Milena Celentano. “The first shot of Andrew on the podium and then of Professor Golden looking out on the crowd gave me chills. Thank you so much Sherwin for documenting the night.”
“Monday, February 3, 2014, marked a significant day in my life,” said newly appointed Director of the Center for Sports Law & Policy Jeremy Evans ‘11. “I will be working at my alma mater as the Director of the Center for Sports Law & Policy, while still running my own law practice in sports, entertainment, and business law, and keeping fulfilled with community-based work.”

The mission of the Center for Sports Law and Policy is to integrate Thomas Jefferson School of Law with, and prepare its students for employment in, the growing sports industry. With its emphasis on professional, amateur and international sports law and policy, its location in San Diego, and its involvement with the three other centers of academic excellence at TJSL, the Center is suited to become a major force in dealing with sports law and policy issues and preparing its students for involvement in the industry.

Professor Rodney Smith has been the Director since the centers inception. "It has been a great honor serving as Director of the Center for Sports Law and Policy, since its founding in 2011," said Professor Smith. "It has been exciting hosting major figures in the sports industry, as we have wrestled with difficult issues in a cross-disciplinary way. The greatest thrill however has been working with my colleagues and recruiting and serving our Fellows, who are being prepared to be problem-solvers and leaders in the industry."

The CLSP is committed, through hosting of conferences and preparing of whitepapers, to helping find solutions to the major problems in the sports industry. As they are engaged in the work of the Center’s mission to help find solutions to the major problems confronting the sports industry in the 21st century, students learn skills as problem-solvers. Students participate in developing whitepapers, hosting conferences, and studying sports law and policy in a curriculum specifically designed to emphasize problem-solving skills.

"From day one, I have worked with Jeremy," said Professor Smith. "He is one of our own, a real founder in his own right. It was very clear to me that Jeremy should serve as my successor and Dean Guernsey agreed. Jeremy is wonderfully organized and fully committed to growing the Center in ways that will serve the students and the industry."

“As the new Director, I hope to bring together the best sports minds in the country, while connecting students, the law school, and the community to the sports and entertainment industry,” said Evans. “The goal will be to find a balance between education and practical application, networking and relationship building. This is not only possible, but I believe Thomas Jefferson School of Law will continue to be the leader in developing the best sports lawyers, agents, and industry professionals. One such program that continues the Thomas Jefferson School of Law legacy in sports and entertainment law is the 4th Annual National Sports Law Negotiation Competition that is set to take place September 19-21, 2014.”

The competition focuses on current issues in the sports world and facilitates students, coaches and judges to negotiate and make decisions on these sports topics in an academic setting. The fact patterns allow students to focus on more than one area of sports law, including: contract negotiation, trading of players, salary demands, endorsement contracts, athlete and sports professionals family and personal issues, and intellectual property among others. The yearly competition is hosted by and held at the Thomas Jefferson School of Law, the competition weekend includes the sports law conference, San Diego Padres game, the competition, and the opportunity to meet agents and current sports professionals and judicial officers.
Transactional Law Competition

On February 28, 2014, Will Burkett and Henry Enenmoh will represent TJSL at the Regional Transactional Law Competition at UCLA. This is the first time TJSL will be part of this event! The competition began in December, 2013 and spans two full months. During those months, the team is required to draft an indemnification agreement for their client, an addendum to the client’s stock purchase agreement, conduct client interviews telephonically, mark up opposing counsel’s draft indemnification agreement and ultimately negotiate the indemnification agreement provisions in person at the Regional Meet on Feb. 28th.

Thus far, the team has done a great job in completing their indemnification agreement, and moving forward in marking-up the opposing side’s indemnification agreement. Faculty advisor, Becky Nieman, said, “It’s encouraging to see how far the students have come since the competition began in mid-December. Their increased confidence in drafting contractual clauses, increased comfort with understanding new legal terms, and overall effort in doing what it takes to represent TJSL to the fullest, makes me very proud to work with them.”

TJSL National Trial Team to Defend Title at TYLA Regionals

The TJSL Trial team headed to Los Angeles on Tuesday, February 18 to defend their regional title in the 39th Annual National Trial Competition. The TYLA competition is one of the oldest and most prestigious in the country. Last year, TJSL won the Regionals and advanced to Nationals where they took semi-final honors. This year, the team consists of four third-year Trial Team members, Joscelyn B. Campbell, Charles Lollar, Raffy Krikorian, and Ismael Iniguez, along with second-year teammate, Kierre Coghill.

Coghill shares, “while preparing for competition takes a lot of time and practice, I have enjoyed the benefit of meeting many volunteer witnesses and guest judges who have provided amazing insight in trial practice techniques and arguing the law. The experience has been irreplaceable.”

Campbell, who competed in the TYLA competition last year believes that “the only thing harder than winning a competition is winning it twice but I do believe that the team we have this year is more than capable to take on the challenge of defending our Regional Championship.”

Iniguez gives a nod to the amazing coaches behind the team, “our coaches Lilys Mccoy and Lea Fields-Bernard sacrifice so much to help us, it is inspiring moving forward. Thomas Jefferson’s National Trial Team, as always, will approach regionals with the same professionalism, skills, and effort that have cemented us as feared competitors.”

The Trial Team will also be competing in three other prestigious competitions this semester, sending students to the American Association of Justice Regional Competition, the South Texas Mock Trial Challenge, and the McGeorge School of Law National Ethics Trial Competition.
TJSL Alum Nominated for the Burton Award

TJSL Alum Robert M. Sagerian ’13 is the 2014 TJSL nominee for the Burton Award. The Burton Awards is a non-profit program dedicated to rewarding excellence and encouraging perfection in law. It honors law school students for “clear, concise, and comprehensive” legal scholarship. It also honors articles published by partners and counsel in law firms. This year’s 15th Annual Burton Awards will take place on June 9th at the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C.

“It was my pleasure to nominate, on behalf of TJSL, Mr. Sagerian for the prestigious Burton Awards,” said Associate Dean for Academic Affairs Linda M. Keller.

“I’m really at a loss for words,” said Sagerian. “It’s truly an honor and incredibly rewarding just to be considered for such a prestigious award. Advocating for those in need is my passion, my calling in the legal profession.”

His law review note “A Penalty Flag for Preemption” (published in Volume 35, Issue 2. 35 T. JEFFERSON L. REV. 229) advocates on behalf of former and current NFL players and calls for the NFL to be held accountable. “Judge Brody's recent denial of the NFL's settlement figure echoes the idea of accountability. As we have seen, the NFL Concussion Litigation has forced changes to how the NFL game is played, trickling all the way down to the Pop Warner ranks,” said Sagerian.

Sagerian has pursued sports and related public issues for some time. His interest developed as he received a scholarship and played football at Arkansas Tech University where he graduated Magna Cum Laude with a degree in Journalism.

Sagerian graduated Magna Cum Laude from TJSL in December and will serve as a Graduate Law Clerk for the San Diego Office of the Public Defender after taking the bar. As a law student, he served as the Captain of the trial team that won the TYLA Regional Competition, received the American Jurisprudence Award in Trial Practice, and was selected to be a Teaching Assistant for the Legal Writing program. He also interned with the San Diego Office of the Public Defender and advocated for clients who suffered catastrophic injuries as a law clerk at Gomez Trial Attorneys.

If chosen for the Burton Awards, Sagerian will join other TJSL winners including: Jennifer Sieverts ’06 in 2006, Anne Knight ’08 in 2008, Skye Resendes ’11 in 2010, and Sean E. Smith ’11 in 2011.
Sumant Pathak 3L Lands Maryland Job Upon Graduation

Third year law student, Sumant Pathak, who will be graduating in May 2014 will be working with Rosenberg Klein & Lee in Ellicott City, Maryland. "I will start working for Rosenberg Klein & Lee towards the end of August," said Pathak. "The firm has been kind enough to grant me a couple of weeks of much-needed vacation prior to the start of work. I will utilize said much-needed vacation to travel to India and Europe."

Pathak will be a patent associate with the firm and his primary job will involve patent prosecution before the United States Patent & Trademark Office (USPTO) in the electrical engineering and computer systems area. He will also have some litigation related responsibilities, such as patent infringement searches and opinions.

Pathak says he is excited about this opportunity. He states that he is going to enjoy “working in a firm that will allow me to develop and hone my patent prosecution and litigation skills.” He remarked, "the firm has an excellent training program for beginning associates. Further, I am very excited to be representing well respected, big names in the technology business.”

He is also looking forward to life on the east coast. According to Pathak, “I was interested in the Maryland/DC/Virginia area because of the location of the USPTO and the plethora of intellectual property firms and patent-work in the area. I just contacted a lot of firms and inquired of their particular needs to see whether the firm matched my desires and skill-set.”

Pathak utilized various services within the law school. He stated, “The Career Services Office and the Externship Office were very helpful in sharpening my resume and conducting mock interviews so that I could be a confident and decisive interviewee. As a result of being an Intellectual Property Fellow and having passed the Patent Bar, I gained valuable experience as a Patent Agent with the school’s USPTO Patent Clinic Program and the San Diego IP Law Group.”

Professor Steven Semeraro worked with Pathak as well. According to Prof. Semeraro, "Sumant displayed a drive to achieve his goals from the first day of law school. He never lost focus on the big picture, gathering experience working on patent matters both in the school’s clinic (for two semesters) and for an outside firm."

When asked what job search strategies worked best, Pathak said, “identify the geographic area where the field of law that you desire to practice has a prominent presence. Proactively contact firms and companies, and check to see whether your skill-set and desires are a good fit with what the entity has to offer.”

According to its website, the firm has been ranked in the past by IP Today as one of the top 50 patent firms in the United States.

Professor Susan Bisom-Rapp will travel to Modena, Italy over spring break in March. She will be involved in meetings and events at the University of Modena’s Marco Biagi Foundation (MBF) from March 17th – 19th. “This is my eighth consecutive trip to Modena for the annual comparative labor law conference in honor of the late Professor Marco Biagi,” she noted.

Before the conference events begin, Professor Bisom-Rapp will teach a two-hour workshop to MBF Ph.D. students. Her topic is “Equal Employment Opportunity Law in Common Law Countries: The U.S. and the U.K. and the Lessons of Social Science.” “This lecture is an updated version of the session I taught at the University of Milan’s School of Law last March,” said Professor Bisom-Rapp.

Professor Bisom-Rapp will also be a commentator at the MBF’s annual Young Scholars’ Workshop, which brings together Ph.D. students from around the world. This year’s half-day event features eight papers, which will be presented by student authors attending doctoral programs, including those at the University of Cambridge (U.K.), Cornell University (U.S.), Oxford University (U.K.), the University of Zurich (Switzerland), the University of Modena (Italy), and Eotvos Lorand University of Sciences (Hungary).

Professor Bisom-Rapp collaborated with professors at the University of Modena to organize this event.

At this year’s comparative labor law conference, Professor Bisom-Rapp is serving as the chair of a panel featuring professors from Germany, Russia, South Africa, Ireland, Italy, and Brazil. The panel papers cover topics dealing with unions, declining job security, and new forms of social protection for those who lose their jobs.

Finally, while in Modena, Professor Bisom-Rapp will attend a meeting of the MBF’s international council, on which she serves. The council discusses curricular issues related to MBF’s Ph.D. program.
The 2014 Women and the Law Conference gathers together a slate of luminaries in military leadership to explore the unique forces shaping women’s access to power in the U.S. military. The conference focuses on a number of issues, including whether new statistics on sexual assault in the military warrant legislative changes to the Uniform Code of Military Justice, and explores the topic of women serving in elite combat units. The conference will be of interest not just to those with a military connection, but to anyone who seeks to gain insight on leadership and success from some of the nation’s most powerful lawyers in uniform.
