

Center for Criminal Law and Policy

Center Classes

Units from these classes count toward the certificate in Criminal Law and Policy.

Fall 2017 Classes:

Adjudicatory Criminal Procedure	Civil Rights & Civil Liberties
Advanced Trial Advocacy	Criminal Motion Practice
California Evidence	Critical Race Theory
Comparative Criminal Procedure: US/Mexico	Trial Practice

Summer 2017 and Spring Intersession 2017 Classes:

ADR in the Criminal Context	Trial Practice
Human Trafficking: Psychology & Law Workshop	Oral Argument of Criminal Motions
Jury Selection Workshop

Spring 2017 Classes:

Adjudicatory Criminal Procedure	Domestic Violence Seminar
Advanced Trial Advocacy	Introduction to Criminal Trial Practice
Comparative Criminal Procedure through Film	Military Justice
Marijuana Law and Policy	Trial Practice 170.2 (Grossman)

Fall 2016 Classes:

Adjudicatory Criminal Procedure	Criminal Motion Practice
California Evidence	Critical Race Theory
Civil Rights and Civil Liberties	Trial Practice 170.1 (Siegel), 170.2 (Grossman)
Comparative Criminal Procedure: US/Mexico

Summer 2016 and Spring Intersession 2016 Classes:

ADR in the Criminal Context (Intersession)      Trial Practice 170.1 w/ Siegel (Summer)
Oral Argument Criminal Motions (Intersession)

Spring 2016 Classes:

Adjudicatory Criminal Procedure      Introduction to Criminal Trial Practice
Criminal Motion Practice      Law & Psychology
International and Comparative Drug Control

Fall 2015 Classes:

Adjudicatory Criminal Procedure      Immigration Removal Defense Seminar
California Evidence      Moot Court Society
Comparative Criminal Procedure Through Film      Trial Practice
Critical Race Theory      Vice Crime

Note: Because the Center and Certificate Program were first established in Fall 2015, there was no official list of qualifying courses prior to the Fall 2015 semester. The Center Directors will determine whether a pre-Fall 2015 course qualifies on a class-by-class basis. If you took a class before Fall 2015 that you believe may qualify, please list the class in your certificate application. When listing pre-Fall 2015 classes, please remember that required courses (e.g., Criminal Procedure, Criminal Law, etc.) do not count toward the units requirement. As a result, you should only list elective courses with a connection to criminal law and policy, including bar tested elective courses, like Adjudicatory Criminal Procedure.